

DailyGrain Load Optimiser

Don't leave money on the table this harvest

How does it work?

The DailyGrain Load Optimiser evaluates every one of your loads against your existing contracts, current cash prices and pools of your choice, then recommends the most optimal way to allocate your grain for maximum returns.

Is this the tool for you?

If you:

- Have forward contracts with variability in their spreads;
- Would like to sell some grain to pools and make the most of the bonuses they offer for high quality;
- But don't want to spend hours of your time sorting out how to allocate your loads in order to maximise your return...

This could be the tool for you.

The bottom line.

When tested with live scenarios, it has been found that it is not uncommon to generate an additional $4 - $10 per tonne by using the Load Optimiser. Don't risk losing money by not allocating your grain correctly.

The cost is $1 per tonne and all you need to do is be a DailyGrain member. The rest can be done for you by one of the authorised consultants (listed below).
